WELCOME TO THE 17TH ANNUAL

CONFERENCE ON CRIMES AGAINST WOMEN

WELCOME BACK! We are thrilled to have you back in-person for the 17th Annual Conference on Crimes Against Women. There is nothing quite like the energy that comes from a ballroom of thousands of practitioners all coming together with one shared goal – to learn and share new tools and skills for working with and bringing justice to women who have experienced gender-based violence.

As we celebrate gathering again, we would be remiss to ignore the sacrifices that so many have made since March 2020. We at the Dallas Police Department and Genesis Women's Shelter & Support recognize the devastating impact the pandemic has had on victims of strangulation, stalking, trafficking, sexual assault and domestic violence – and on all of you, who were on the front lines every day, never giving up. Thank you for being there when survivors needed your help more than ever before.

Although we can't know what the future holds, one thing remains – we are committed to walking alongside all of you as we work to end the epidemic of violence against women. Thank you for continuing to trust us to provide the most cutting-edge, timely education in the field. YOU ARE OUR HEROES!

MISSION OF CCAW The mission of the Conference on Crimes Against Women (CCAW) is to provide a national platform to disseminate the highest level of training, information, and strategies to professionals who are responders and advocates to victims of the many and varied forms of crimes against women including domestic violence, human trafficking, sexual assault, and strangulation.

Help is free and confidential

THE DALLAS POLICE DEPARTMENT is dedicated to protecting all Dallas citizens from crimes through its prevention, patrol, and investigative activities. With respect to the victimization of women, the Department has deployed significant resources to effectively investigate the full range of crimes that are committed against women. While all personnel share the responsibility to combat these crimes, the Department has specialized units that have the primary investigative responsibility for the investigation of domestic violence, protective order violations, stalking, sexual assault, registered sex offenders, trafficking, and homicide.

CCAW PROGRAMS

The Conference on Crimes Against Women has grown!
Did you know that the annual conference is just one of our programs?

The Podcast on Crimes Against Women serves as an extension of the information and topics presented at the annual Conference, providing in-depth dialogue, fresh perspectives, and relevant updates by experts in the fields of victim advocacy, criminal justice, medicine, and more. The podcast creates a space to engage and educate community members on the issue of violence against women, how it impacts our daily lives, and how we can work together to create lasting cultural and systemic change.

Visit www.conferencecaw.org/podcast to listen to all three seasons of Podcast on Crimes Against Women, or subscribe to the podcast on your favorite platform.

The Institute for Coordinated Community Response works alongside rural communities to improve their collaborative, systemic responses to domestic violence. The Institute works to accomplish its mission in two ways:

Saturate the state of Texas with effective criminal justice system responses to domestic violence. Each year, ICCR selects up to four teams of law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and advocates from rural Texas counties, at no cost to the participants, to identify what is needed in each community and create a sustainable Coordinated Community Response (CCR) to domestic violence. Teams review local domestic violence cases, listen to survivors' experiences, learn from experts, and collaboratively implement changes to begin building the scaffolding of a sustainable CCR.

Ensure every community across the United States, no matter how small, receives the training they need to provide justice for victims and hold offenders accountable. Together with the larger CCAW team, the Institute provides virtual, year-round training on domestic violence dynamics and collaborative solutions that center the unique needs of rural communities.

Visit www.InstituteCCR.org to learn more about ICCR's Texas programming, view upcoming national trainings, and sign up to receive regular updates!

OPENING PLENARY SPEAKER

MONDAY, MAY 23RD | LONE STAR BALLROOM

MARK WYNN

Mark Wynn is a national trainer to law enforcement, prosecutors, judges, legislators, healthcare professionals, and victim advocates in all 50 states for over 40 years. An international lecturer at police academies all over the world, Mr. Wynn is also a Fulbright specialist for the Department of State, and is, himself, a survivor of domestic violence. Mr. Wynn is devoted to ending domestic, sexual, elder, and child abuse as a former police officer, detective, educator, program supervisor, and now consultant and advisor.

Most recently, Wynn was featured in an autobiographical documentary depicting his family's abuse as a child and their journey to healing, entitled, This Is the House Where I Learned Not to Sleep. Bringing together producers, impact producers and filmmakers from the films, The Homestretch, Audrey & Daisy, Private Violence, and Bully, this project brings a unique depth to challenging perceptions of violence against women. This project was supported, in part, by Cindy Waitt and The Waitt Institute for Violence Prevention, Kind World Foundation, Chicago Media Project and The Nathan Cummings Foundation.

HOW TO RECEIVE CREDIT

- Your certificate will include provider numbers for this Conference.
- To receive accreditation, each attendee must report their attendance to their individual reporting agency. It is up to each individual reporting agency to accept eligible hours and report those hours. CCAW Staff will be monitoring each webinar for attendance accuracy in case of an audit. Please note completion of each session survey is required.
- Attendees can track their attendance and continuing education credits at any time during the Conference on the Conference App. Attendees must scan into sessions and complete the session survey to be eligible for credit.

NOTE: Only ONE certificate will be sent after completion of the survey, and will contain the name of the attendee who registered for CCAW. No certificates will be given to attendees who did not register for CCAW.

2022 IGNITE AWARD WINNER

TRACY MATHESON

CCAW is proud to present the 2022 IGNITE Award to Tracy Matheson: mother, legislative champion, and founder of Project Beloved. After her daughter, Molly Jane, was raped and murdered in 2017, Tracy made it her life's work to create change for victims of sexual assault. Tracy founded Project Beloved in 2018 with the mission to educate, advocate, and collaborate to change the conversation about sexual assault. Project Beloved has provided more than 10,000 Beloved Bundles to hospitals, so that rape victims may leave with dignity after a forensic exam. The organization installed 42 Soft Interview Rooms nationwide, giving victims a space that feels physically and emotionally safe during the interview process. Project Beloved has also established the Molly Jane Matheson Memorial Scholarship in Social Work at the University of Arkansas, honoring Molly's plan to become a social worker. As a result of Tracy's tireless advocacy, Molly Jane's Law was passed in Texas on September 1, 2019. Molly Jane's Law requires law enforcement to input information about sexual offenders into ViCAP (Violent Criminal Apprehension Program) each time a case of sexual assault is investigated. This law helps identify patterns of offense so that law enforcement can act decisively before an offender rapes again - a crucial step that will save countless lives. Tracy embodies the IGNITE Award, created to recognize individuals who have worked tirelessly to bring injustice out of the darkness and light the fire of change in their community. We are thrilled to honor her contributions to the field of sexual assault advocacy.

"I'm on a journey to figure out what I am called to do with the story that has become my family's story. One thing I know is that I must play my part to bring change."

CASE STUDIES

ADULT SEXUAL ASSAULT PROSECUTIONS: THE RIGHT & WRONG IN JURY SELECTION

Gabrielle Massey, Ekuu Assabill

The defendant was arrested in March 2018 after a hostage standoff with law enforcement. After his wife safely exited the home, law enforcement learned that she had been brutally beaten, restrained, sexually assaulted, and threatened at gunpoint. This case study will reshape how we select prospective jurors in adult sexual assault cases. The presenters will provide portions of the voir dire used at trial and discuss hypotheticals, scaled questioning, and discussion questions.

THE CASE OF ALBERT AYALA & WHY EVERY SEXUAL ASSAULT KIT MUST BE TESTED

Leighton D'Antoni, Amy Derrick, Daniel Flannery, Angela Williamson

Albert Ayala raped women of all ages, races, strangers, and women he knew. If law enforcement had tested the sexual assault kit of his former girlfriend, Ayala would have been identified years before he raped multiple women. This case study highlights the negative butterfly effect of not testing sexual assault kits in known offender and domestic violence cases.

DANGEROUS CONSEQUENCES: WHEN A "GOOD" PLEA BARGAIN IN A CRIMINAL CASE UNINTENTIONALLY CREATES A BAD OUTCOME IN A FAMILY LAW MATTER

Rachel Elkin, Sara Barnett

This case study will walk through one client's case and examine how an abuser - arrested at least four times for assault family violence - was able to successfully gain full custody of two boys and paint the victim as a dangerous abuser, as well as how the Genesis Legal Team was able to get the children back to safety with their mother.

A DEVIL IN DISGUISE: THE DEIFICATION OF BRANDON SAMPSON

Jessica Trevizo

This case study will chronicle the search for a woman whose lifeless body was discovered in the defendant's garage. The defendant was not just a murderer, but also a "gorilla" pimp who referred to himself as the "Messiah." The presenter will demonstrate how his abusive behavior escalated over the years, empowered by a systematic breakdown in the criminal justice system that led him to believe he was untouchable.

DILIGENCE, DIGITAL EVIDENCE, & DUMB LUCK: THE INVESTIGATION OF BRENTON WADE RICHMOND

John Trenary

On February 7th, 2019, Brenton Richmond murdered Tammy Hopper and Erik Jacobs. Richmond had previously been employed as a police officer and used his experience to attempt to thwart investigative efforts, but his failure to consider digital evidence provided a treasure trove of information. The ongoing review of digital evidence became a driving theme throughout the investigation. This case study will showcase digital innovation and provide practical learning points and take-aways.

FIGHT FOR JUSTICE: A PAKISTAN STORY

Zoe Richards

Pakistan ranks 153rd out of 156 countries on gender inequality. However, there are everyday heroes in our midst: prosecutors and judges from Pakistan who not only work on cases involving crimes against women but are also committed to sharing their insights, learning, experiences, and the unique conditions of Pakistan with the world. This case study will highlight the challenges and triumphs involved in the fight for justice related to two Pakistani prosecutorial cases.

HIDDEN IN PLAIN SIGHT: THE OPERATION OF RESIDENTIAL BROTHELS

George Duarte, Jeffrey Richards

This case study will explore what was found to be a very organized and sophisticated "family business" that used a scheme of real estate transactions to buy and sell homes and businesses that would be used as indoor brothels. Topics such as counter-surveillance and police detection networks by the offenders and investigative surveillance technology by crime intelligence units will also be discussed.

HOUSE OF HORRORS: THE CASE OF IMMANUEL HUMES

Melissa Hoppmeyer, Thea Zumwalt

This case study will dive into the State of Maryland v. Immanuel Humes and Jasmine Stevenson, both of whom were charged with neglect, child abuse, and murder for the maltreatment and neglect of their children. The presenters will review the investigation and ultimate decision to charge both parents, as well as how domestic violence plays a role in child abuse and the decision to get Ms. Stevenson treatment rather than incarceration for her crimes.

INSULT TO INJURY: WHEN A PROSECUTOR'S DAUGHTER IS TRAFFICKED

Miiko Anderson

As a prosecuting attorney, Miiko Anderson's life was turned upside down when she learned that her daughter was forcibly taken out of state as a victim of domestic sex trafficking. From the unique perspective of both a prosecutor and mother of a victim, the presenter will provide a rare and raw account of her story and the lessons she learned as a result.

LOOKS CAN BE DECEIVING: CATCHING SMUGGLERS & TRAFFICKERS OF WOMEN & DRUGS

Johna Stallings, Sara Siegel

No one in a nice neighborhood in Houston had any idea what was happening behind closed doors of a four-bedroom home. Women had been smuggled into the U.S. to take care of other exploited persons while the smugglers trafficked drugs and people from Mexico to other areas of the U.S. Attendees will learn what the Houston Police Department did to save the 15 people held captive in the home.

A NEAR MISS: PROSECUTING A HUMAN TRAFFICKING RECRUITMENT SCHEME

Jennifer Rausch, Jomel Spurlock

This case study will examine a sex trafficking ring that operated in Central Ohio for several months in 2017. The presenters will explore the investigative and prosecutorial processes and courtroom outcomes. The instrumentality of the case advocate's ability to work with the victim from the beginning of the investigation to the end of the court proceedings (and beyond) will also be discussed.

NEVER GIVE UP: THE 47-YEAR JOURNEY FOR JUSTICE FOR CARLA WALKER

Kim D'Avignon, Emily Dixon

In 1974, Carla Walker was abducted, raped, and murdered in Fort Worth, Texas. Her case was finally solved in 2020. The presenters will examine the investigation and successful prosecution of this case, and attendees will learn how the prosecutors used forensic genetic genealogy DNA analysis in one of the first trials to use FGG in the nation. Challenges of putting together a case where many of the original participants had died will also be discussed.

NEVER FORGET A FACE! THE DOWNFALL OF JUSTIN RAY

Kerry Adcock

This case study will take a deep dive into the case of Justin Ray, a violent sexual offender sentenced to 50 years in prison, who attacked a female jogger by violently beating and sexually assaulting her. The presenter will highlight the importance of a good composite drawing of the suspect and the pitfalls of eyewitness descriptions. Case interviews, DNA, and the use of social media will also be discussed.

THE RECENT & HOW TO STILL PROVE THE CASE

Kathryn Marsh, Gloria Neeld

In this case, investigators identified that the recant by a 17-year-old daughter was caused by economic abuse of the stepfather and the mother trying to comply with the defendant to be able to file for divorce and maintain custody of two younger children. Collaborative investigations and techniques, reasons for recantation, witness intimidation, and strategies for successful prosecution will also be discussed.

A TIME OF TERROR: THE EFFECTS OF CAPRIGLIONE

Tara Edsall, Ryan Gardiner

This case study dives into the life and behavior of a narcissistically controlling domestic violence abuser and the effects his abuse had on five survivors. Attendees will learn why it took five survivors to finally incarcerate the offender. The presenters will discuss lessons learned and what the criminal justice system could have done differently during the investigation, as well as what was done to aid in the successful prosecution.

U.S. V. ALSTON WILLIAMS: ADDRESSING COMMERCIAL SEX TRAFFICKING USING A MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

Pete Angell, Jennifer Howard, Carlos Lisboa, Gregory Schiller

In November 2017, an investigation revealed that, for 12 years, Alston Williams recruited troubled juvenile females into his home. Williams used mental and emotional abuse, along with severe physical violence, to control and exploit his victims. This case study will examine the best practices for a successful trafficking investigation and prosecution, as well as provide attendees tools, trial strategies, and tips for strong victim advocacy throughout the case.

WHEN DARKNESS COMES TO LIGHT: STATE VS. JEREMY FENNEY

Coreen Schnepf

In severe cases of psychological and physical abuse, victims are often rendered voiceless. In this case study, essential steps were taken to provide resources for treatment, create a path for cooperation in the prosecution, and exit from a life of prostitution and abuse. The presenters will share the long-term commitment and effort of a successful investigation and prosecution in a case that resulted in a 340-year prison sentence for the offender.

WHEN THE JUSTICE SYSTEM REFUSES TO DO THE RIGHT THING: THE MADISON SMITH CASE

Justin Boardman, Julie Germann, Madison Smith, Mandy Smith

In February 2018, Madison Smith was raped and strangled by a college classmate, but the offender was charged only with aggravated battery. Later, a law from the 1880's was located that allows the convening of a Citizen's Grand Jury. Unfortunately, they declined to bring further charges. The presenters will discuss lessons learned and highlight the ways rape victims are re-victimized by the criminal justice system and statutes that can't be enforced.

"YOU'LL GIVE IT UP FOR HIM": LESSONS LEARNED FROM LGBTQ-SPECIFIC SEXUAL ASSAULT COLD CASES

Patrick Moug, Grace Broughton

This cold case study will discuss lessons learned from working sexual assault cold cases in which the victims are part of the LGBTQ community. The presenters will share what worked and didn't work to build rapport with victims, how to investigate and prepare a case where the evidence was over ten years old, and how to interrogate offenders who sexually assault others due to their sexual orientation.

#HOWDOISEARCHTHAT: INSTAGRAM INVESTIGATIONS

Lauren Wagner

Attendees will be shown three ways to search Instagram for evidence: the Instagram search engine, searching Instagram through Google advanced and Boolean operators, and third-party resources that can be used without having an Instagram account. Instagram searching for profiles, keywords, hashtags, and geographical information will all be covered. Techniques to search Instagram through the mobile app using an Android emulator will also be discussed, as well as ways to save data from the web.

BECOME A GOOGLE JEDI: BUILDING A BETTER BOOLEAN STRING

Lauren Wagner

Google is everyone's go-to search engine, but most people aren't utilizing it to the full capacity. Google has built-in tools to search particular websites, exact phrases, and within URLs. This lab will teach students how to effectively use Google to filter search results to relevant and useable information. Students will complete hands-on exercises using Google Boolean and advanced Operators.

CONDUCTING OFFENDER-FOCUSED HUMAN TRAFFICKING OPERATIONS TO IDENTIFY TRAFFICKING VICTIMS

Joseph Scaramucci

The trafficking of individuals for either labor or sex can result in horrible physical damage and long-lasting psychological destruction. The presenter will discuss the stages and causes of victimization, trauma in the brain, learned helplessness, and how to approach investigations with the best interest of the victim's overall wellbeing in mind.

CYBERSECURITY AWARENESS: WHO'S IN MY INBOX?

John Trenary, Lauren Wagner

Who is that email really from? Are those links safe to click? How can I find the true sender? These are all questions we ask ourselves daily with the frequency of phishing and scams. This lab will share resources to query email addresses, phone numbers, and other information to distinguish true from phishing emails. Presenters will also discuss how to protect yourself both personally and in your organization from viruses and malware.

DATA IN DATA: FINDING FILE METADATA & USING IT IN INVESTIGATIONS

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

An anonymous threatening word document is sent to a victim. What data is there to help identify the sender? Metadata, or data about data, is contained in many common files. This lab will show attendees how to use office applications and other third-party tools to find this data and see the author, time for editing, and potentially even the latitude and longitude of where a photo was taken.

DARKNET FUNDAMENTALS

Timothy Lott

While the TOR network has some noble ideals, it is often where offenders can operate in the open with little fear of law enforcement interdiction. This lab will introduce students to the terminology employed in anonymized browsing, how to access the TOR network, and gain a firmer understanding of the challenges of investigating crimes on the Darknet.

FACEBOOK SEARCHING & SAVING

Lauren Wagner

Facebook rolled out "New Facebook" in 2020. With this new interface comes new investigative challenges, including new methods for finding a Facebook ID number and searching within a profile. This will address searching techniques that can be found on "New Facebook", as well as cover some of the "oldies but goodies!"

ROUTER ARTIFACTS: THE CALL IS COMING FROM INSIDE THE HOUSE

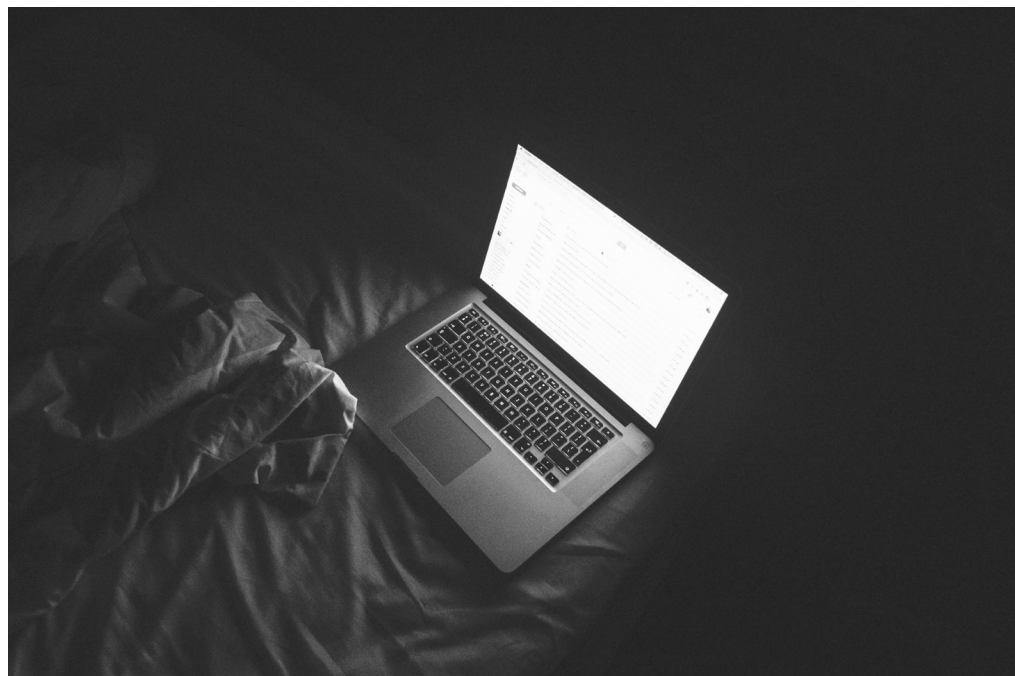

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

Restricted to law enforcement and prosecutors A WiFi access point can be a data source to tell an investigator who showed up and when. Attendees will interpret router logs to identify specific devices that have been connected to an access point. Additionally, a person's phone and computer innately tracks all of the previously connected WiFi networks. The presenters will demonstrate how to take the WiFi access points from phones and computers, and plot them using open source SSID and BSSID tracking tools.

SEIZURE OF MOBILE DEVICES & UNDERSTANDING FORENSIC REPORTS/ MANIPULATING REPORT DATA USING EXCEL AND CLOUD CONSIDERATIONS (PT. 1 & 2)

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

Restricted to law enforcement and prosecutors In part one, attendees will learn basic terminology and resources that can be used during a mobile device data recovery. Considerations for device seizure will be discussed, and tools that are available for mobile device data recovery will be introduced. In part two, attendees will take a cell phone forensic report and use Excel to parse through the data. The presenters will also examine the unique concerns of cloud computing and the impact in investigations.

INTERNET ACCESS

CHOOSE "SHERATON_CONFERENCE" WIRELESS NETWORK.

TECHNOLOGY ARTIFACT AWARENESS: THE FOURTH DIMENSION OF CRIME

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

Restricted to law enforcement and prosecutors
We are surrounded by an invisible fourth-dimension of information technology with which we interact every day. Developing an awareness of technology artifacts helps those who advocate for the truth, advocate more effectively. You cannot seek that which you do not know exists. This lab will arm attendees with an understanding of what technology artifacts might exist related to various crimes.

TECH TOOLS FOR THE INVESTIGATORS TOOLBOX

Lauren Wagner

This lab will introduce the must-have software and methodologies that can be used by investigators to enhance and save digital evidence. Topics will include browsers and add-ons, such as the SEARCH Investigative and Forensic Toolbar and DumpItBlue. Youtube-dl (Saving web videos), VLC (Playing and manipulating videos), Irfanview (Viewing images and EXIF information), Audacity (Audio editing), and Google services such as Images and Scholar will also be covered.

TRIAGE FUNDAMENTALS: WINDOWS OPERATING SYSTEMS

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

Restricted to law enforcement and prosecutors
This lab will address the collection of potential evidence from running devices at the scene of a search warrant or a probation/parole/consent search. Topics will include ram dumping, using a bit locker key grabber, logical volume imaging, and tips on photographing evidence/information displayed on a running computer.

USING GOOGLE EARTH TO PLOT GEOLOCATION POINTS & CREATE MAPS & VISUALS

John Trenary

Restricted to law enforcement and prosecutors
Geolocation information is increasingly present in modern investigations. Google Earth is a free tool that can be leveraged to support law enforcement investigations, and create effective visuals investigators, prosecutors, and juries can understand. This lab will introduce attendees to Google Earth and the tools to plot geolocation information and create effective visuals.

VINELINK: BRIDGING THE GAP FOR VICTIMS THROUGH TECHNOLOGY

Karen Adams, Missy Young

This lab will showcase how VINELink provides service providers and law enforcement with the appropriate tools to better assist victims of crime. Attendees will search for offender custody status and court case information, register for real-time, automated custody status and court case notifications, and access VINE's new, interactive "I NEED GUIDANCE" tool, connecting victims to local and national service providers using intuitive questions.

WRITING LEGAL PROCESS FOR DIGITAL INVESTIGATIONS

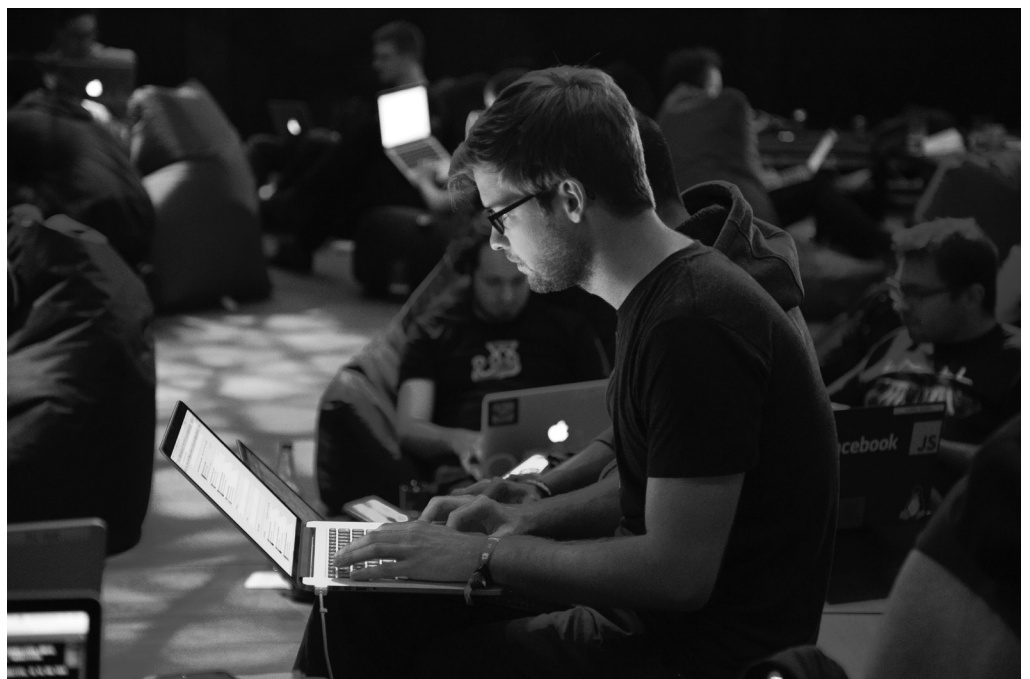

John Trenary, Dean Chatfield

With every website and app comes new challenges to writing legal process. This lab will show attendees how to identify who and how to send a legal process, web resources for knowing what each company keeps, how to write legal process to recover it, and resources for finding information when the go-to data sources come up short.

WORKSHOPS

THE 13TH JUROR: OVERCOMING THE "REAL" RAPE MYTH (PT. 1 & 2)

Julie Germann

In part one, attendees will learn how the 13th juror in the box impacts charging decisions and standards for charging that eliminate myth and bias from their decision making. In part two, the presenter will share trauma-informed trial practices from voir dire through closing arguments, including utilizing expert witnesses and how to educate a jury on myths and bias.

ACHIEVING JUSTICE: THE PROSECUTOR'S ROLE IN HUMAN TRAFFICKING CASES

Jane Anderson, Nicole Bell, Rebecca Bender

The criminal justice system serves as an on-ramp and off-ramp from sex trafficking and exploitation. In this workshop, the presenters will bring their lived and professional experiences to emphasize the prosecutor's duty to achieve justice over convictions and proactively remedy wrongful convictions. Strategies for engaging survivors, avoiding wrongful criminalization, and providing access to just criminal record relief will be discussed.

ADVANCING JUSTICE WITH DNA TECHNOLOGIES

Patti Powers, Misty Marra Williamson

Advanced DNA technologies opened the door to cutting-edge investigations in cold and current cases. This workshop will explore DNA STR and Y-STR testing, the use of CODIS for familial searching when authorized, and FGG searches. The presenter will also discuss legal issues with collecting abandoned DNA compared with extant DNA in FGG searches, and the effective presentation of investigatory evidence at trial.

ARE WE THERE YET? FINDING BEST PRACTICES FOR RESPONDING TO DOMESTIC & SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Justin Boardman, Leah Lutz

People on the frontlines work tirelessly day in and day out - why haven't collective efforts brought about more change? Although many strides have been made, so much more needs to be done within law enforcement, legal, and advocacy arenas. This thought-provoking workshop will discuss current challenges and inspire new ideas about the justice system's handling of sexual and domestic violence.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE TO FIGHT HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Rochelle Keyhan, Joseph Scaramucci

This workshop will provide investigative best practices to ensure trafficking victims' needs are met while aiming to conduct investigations and prosecutions without victim cooperation. Strategies for shifting investigations from "finding" victims to identifying offenders will be discussed. Presenters will also share how to conduct trafficking operations using minimal funding and manpower by leaning on technology, artificial intelligence, and free or low-cost technical tools.

AQUATIC CRIMES AGAINST WOMEN STAGED AS NONCRIMINAL SWIMMING POOL & OPEN WATER DEATHS (INTERACTIVE)

Andrea Zaferes, Walt Hendrick, Tiffany Lee

Anyone working cases involving pools or open water scenes need training on the realities of what happens to living and dead bodies in water, the drowning process, processing aquatic scenes, recovering and processing submerged evidence, packaging submerged bodies, and more. This interactive workshop will provide hands-on drills that include optional in-water experiences. Non-swimmers welcome. Bring note-taking tools. Bathing suit optional. Pre-registration is required. Prerequisite: Attend a past year's or 2022 ACAW presentation.

ASK ME, THEN LISTEN: UNDERSTANDING & ADDRESSING THE NEEDS OF SEXUAL AND DOMESTIC ABUSE SURVIVORS WITH A DISABILITY

Nancy Alterio, Timothy Grant, Julie Howley Westwater

Sexual and domestic abuse is a serious problem disproportionately affecting persons with disabilities, in particular, individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The presenters will discuss the prevalence, signs, and impact of sexual and domestic abuse perpetrated against persons with disabilities. This workshop will demonstrate how law enforcement, adult protective services, and forensic medical professionals can collaborate in a comprehensive manner.

ASSESS YOURSELF BEFORE YOU ASSESS YOUR PATIENT: HOW IMPLICIT BIAS NEGATIVELY AFFECTS HEALTHCARE DELIVERY & PATIENT OUTCOMES IN STIGMATIZED POPULATIONS

Catherine Glenn

The presenters will illustrate situations where bias can flare up and activate in the busy, chaotic, understaffed atmosphere of our nation's emergency rooms and hospitals, and what can be done to prevent it. The workshop will also explore how healthcare providers can identify their own individual biases and channel knowledge into a powerful force in forging relationships with patients.

BEYOND STRANGERS IN BARS: UNDERSTANDING DRUG FACILITATED DOMESTIC VIOLENCE & SUPPORTING SURVIVORS

Julie Owens, Allyson Cordoni, Rhonda Encinas, Winifred Eyeri

In this workshop, domestic violence advocates will describe Drug Facilitated Domestic Violence, its symptoms, its impact on victims, common incapacitating substances, how to screen and support survivors, and share case examples and resources. Additionally, a courageous advocate who survived six years of daily DFDV by her abusive ex-husband will share her experience.

BREAKING DOWN SILOS: A COLLABORATIVE RESPONSE TO CHALLENGING CASES

Khara Breeden, Micala Clark, Shamika Kelley, Brookley Torres

The complex intricacies of gender-based crimes become challenging cases for investigators and prosecutors. Walking through cases from community partner perspectives enriches communication and collaboration, which ultimately improves victim support and case outcomes. The presenters will define these challenges from the lens of various community partners and discuss successful tactics and solid alliances needed to overcome these challenges.

BREAKING POINT: AGENCY CULTURE & GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

Bob Frechette

Responses to gender-based violence have come a long way, but some disturbing trends have arisen. Some organizations have decreased required documentation and/or procedures when working cases, and agencies have been hesitant to adopt new best practices for fear of further burdening overworked staff. This workshop will examine the evolution of agency culture around GBV, its challenges, and strategies for improving the efficiency of agency services.

WORKSHOPS

CALL ME CRAZY: THE ROLE OF FEAR & SURVIVAL IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Kelsey McKay

Violence, abuse and trauma change how a victim communicates to the world. The definition of a "credible victim" is challenged by the complex reality of abusive dynamics, and without proper understanding, victims are set up to fail. Evidence of fear and survival can be misinterpreted by practitioners and exploited by perpetrators. With a new lens, practitioners can overcome these challenges and turn them into convictions.

CENTERING RURAL NEEDS: INSTITUTE FOR COORDINATED COMMUNITY RESPONSE (LUNCH SESSION)

Brooke Meyer

The Institute for Coordinated Community Response is a program of CCAW that works alongside rural communities to improve their collaborative, systemic responses to domestic violence. This lunch session will provide an overview of how ICCR can support your rural community, from training, to customized technical assistance, to resource provision.

CENTERING SURVIVORS ACROSS THE SPECTRUM OF GUN VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

Crystal Turner, Chelsea Ocon, Michael-Sean Spence, Paige Tetens

Gun violence against women is a complex, multifaceted issue, ranging from IPV, to hate-motivated violence, to intimidation and coercion with a gun. This workshop will explore why survivor-centered approaches are crucial when implementing strategies that address IPV. After a survivor shares her lived experience, presenters will share original research on the state of violence against women and survivor-centered approaches to IPV prevention.

CHALLENGES & STRIDES: EXPLORING THE ARMY'S SPECIAL VICTIMS' COUNSEL PROGRAM

Carol Brewer

Military sexual assault victims face unique challenges. To respond to these hurdles, the Department of Defense created a Special Victims' Counsel to assist victims in navigating the military criminal justice system. This workshop will describe the history of the SVC program and how attorneys promote procedural justice and provide legal representation to victims. The presenter will offer strategies for advancing offender accountability and victim empowerment.

CHANCES ARE...YOU WILL BE A VICTIM: THE FUTURE OF ELDER ABUSE (LUNCH SESSION)

Julie Krawczyk

One in ten adults will be a victim of elder financial exploitation or other forms of abuse. This session will address the progressive aspects of elder abuse, especially its fastest growing form: financial abuse. The presenter will discuss indicators of financial abuse that can determine other types of abuse, futuristic types of abuse, and resources available to reduce elder abuse.

COLLABORATIVE & MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACHES TO COMBAT HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Ashlee Lucas, Guy Collins

The most effective, coordinated, and efficient problem-solving efforts involve multi-disciplinary and collaborative tactics. The presenters will describe the establishment of the Mississippi Bureau of Investigation Human Trafficking Special Victim's Unit and their comprehensive role in assisting victims. An overview of the creation of the Mississippi Human Trafficking Council goals, objectives, purposes, and updates will also be discussed.

CRACKING THE CODE: RECOGNIZING THE DIFFERENT MOTIVES OF THOSE WHO BATTER (PT. 1 & 2)

Steven Halley, Dorothy Stucky Halley

This workshop will provide practical information that unlocks the mystery of domestic violence in an effort to prompt change and enhance agency response. The presenters have "cracked the code," and will share details about batterers who have different motives, display different behaviors, and present different dangers to their victim and to their community.

CREATING A CONSENT CULTURE: HOW MEDIA PERPETUATES SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Sarah Berlanga

This workshop will use an intersectional approach to discuss how media assists in perpetuating gender norms and stereotypes that lead to sexual violence, especially toward people of racial and sexual minorities. The presenter will also define primary prevention, and explain how media literacy can be used to change attitudes that perpetuate sexual violence.

CRIME SCENE INVESTIGATION: A DEEP DIVE (INTERACTIVE)

Ray Goins, Ronnie Johnson

This interactive workshop gives attendees a hands-on experience with intimate partner incidents. Attendees will "investigate" a "crime scene" and interview the victim, suspect, child witness, and third-party witness, as well as fill the roles of investigating officer, advocate, and support for the victim. Feedback from the role players and presenters will provide deeper insight into the overall response to the intimate partner violence incident.

THE CRISIS OF INDIFFERENCE: MISSING & UNIDENTIFIED WOMEN IN THE U.S.

Thomas McAndrew, Christopher McMullin

By some estimates, there are more than 40,000 unidentified bodies in the U.S. This workshop will provide a framework for locating unidentified victims who have long been forgotten. Attendees will receive strategies to bring these cases up to contemporary standards. Case studies will be included that demonstrate the failures of the system and how those failures can be turned into successes.

THE CRITICAL INTERSECTION OF SEX TRAFFICKING & MURDERED & MISSING INDIGENOUS RELATIVES

Nicole Matthews, Jolene Engelking

The dangers of sex trafficking are often exacerbated by the long-existing invisibility and jurisdictional barriers that traffickers count on when committing violent crimes. The presenters will discuss promising grassroots practices to understand, intervene, prevent, and support those most at risk. Comprehensive responses can impede upon the endemic of Missing and/or Murdered Indigenous people both online and in real life.

CUSP: RISK FACTORS & REALITIES OF RURAL TEEN RELATIONSHIPS

Amanda Elkanick Oder

During a road trip across America, first-time filmmakers Parker Hill and Isabel Bethencourt met three spirited teenage girls at a gas station in small-town Texas and were inspired to document their carefree summers. In this workshop, attendees will view clips of the award-winning film, CUSP, and discuss running themes of sexual assault and trauma, consent, and dating violence.

WORKSHOPS

DATA-INFORMED RESPONSE TO IPV HOMICIDE IN RURAL COMMUNITIES (LUNCH SESSION)

Mikisha Hooper, Leila Wood

Drawing upon needs identified through recent research on the response to intimate partner violence in Texas communities, the presenters will share four key issues that emerged and discuss how rural communities can mobilize to address limited physical presence of service providers, justice access issues, mobile advocacy models, and economic resource needs in rural areas.

DATA-INFORMED RESPONSE TO IPV HOMICIDE IN RURAL COMMUNITIES (LUNCH SESSION)

Mikisha Hooper, Leila Wood

Drawing upon needs identified through recent research on the response to intimate partner violence in Texas communities, the presenters will share four key issues that emerged and discuss how rural communities can mobilize to address limited physical presence of service providers, justice access issues, mobile advocacy models, and economic resource needs in rural areas.

DECEPTION DETECTION: AN INTRODUCTION TO FORENSIC STATEMENT ANALYSIS

Richard Whitehead

Forensic Statement Analysis is highly effective in the detection of deception hidden in a person's written or spoken statement. Attendees will be taught how to identify linguistic signals that differentiate deceptive statements from truthful ones as suspects subconsciously reveal information. The presenter will guide attendees through an interactive presentation to dissect statements from actual homicides, kidnappings, and sexual assaults.

DEMYSTIFYING & HUMANIZING THE TITLE IX PROCESS

Michelle Miller

This workshop will provide an overview of what to expect when supporting a student or working through a Title IX case. It will cover common terminology, an overview of the investigation and adjudication process, explain the unique role Title IX and Student Conduct play in addressing sexual misconduct on college campuses, and how to coordinate across campus with local and campus law enforcement.

DETERMINING PREDOMINANT AGGRESSOR & SELF-DEFENSE: VIDEO SCREENING & DISCUSSION

Denise Jones, Dave Thomas, Brooke Meyer

Responding officers must understand the context of domestic violence crimes and conduct thorough investigations to determine if self-defense was present, who acted as the predominant aggressor, and who should go to jail. The presenters will screen the six-part, on-demand roll call training "Determining Predominant Aggressor & Self-Defense," produced by the Institute for Coordinated Community Response, and facilitate a group discussion between parts.

DIGITAL ABUSE IN THE INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE SETTING

Kathryn Marsh, Melissa Hoppmeyer

This workshop will help identify digital or tech-facilitated intimate partner abuse. The presenters will share real case investigations to highlight effective investigative techniques and partnerships with the tech world. This workshop will also discuss the difficulties in the investigation and prosecution of this type of crime due to antiquated or out-of-date laws and will explore state and federal laws that are applicable.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE & THE MAGISTRATE: SURVIVOR RIGHTS & DUE PROCESS

Stuti Patel

The journey for victims of violent crime is often arduous and burdensome. It is imperative that victims (and the advocates who assist them) are aware of their rights at the scene of the crime, in court, during the pendency of the case, and post-disposition. The presenter will cover laws regarding protective orders and bond conditions while ensuring the defendant's due process rights.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE IN SOUTH ASIAN & MUSLIM COMMUNITIES

Heena Khan

This workshop will discuss the acculturation and cultural dynamics that are important to understand when providing services to South Asian victims and families. The presenter will share her unique counseling experience and educate attendees on how to attune themselves to the unique needs of this community and how to effectively utilize trauma-informed and culturally competent practices.

DOUBLE WHAMMY: THE OVERLAP OF SEXUAL ABUSE & DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, & WHAT PROFESSIONALS NEED TO KNOW

Scott Hampton

Too often, first responders who conduct domestic violence risk assessment do not routinely ask about sexual assault. This workshop will explain the relationship between domestic violence and sexual assault, offer a rationale for increased screening, assessment and intervention, and discuss how to engage in a conversation with both victims and perpetrators about their experience of the sexual assault.

DROPPING THE NO-DROP: IS DOING AWAY WITH NO DROP THE BEST FOR VICTIMS? (LUNCH SESSION)

Mark Matsusaka

This lunch session will examine the immediate and long-term effects of doing away with rigid no-drop domestic violence prosecution policies for domestic violence cases, as well as the possible successes and repercussions that can impact victims. Validating survivors' voices and choices, listening to survivor desires, providing support, and survivor autonomy will also be discussed.

EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION WITH REPORTS IN GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE CASES

Bob Frechette

The presenter will examine how law enforcement, medical personnel, and other official reports have the potential to make or break a case. This workshop will also explore language that can better paint a picture of the facts for the reader and ways in which officer documentation has the ability to empower or re-victimize victims of gender-based crimes.

EMPATHY-BASED INTERROGATION (PT. 1 & 2)

Nancy Oglesby, Mark MacKizer, Mike Milnor

Empathy-based interrogation utilizes a science-based, personality-focused approach in a non-confrontational interview process designed to gain accurate information and induce problem-solving by keeping subjects talking. This workshop is an introduction to EBI in an effort to share best practices for eliciting comprehensive and accurate information from a subject through non-confrontational, rapport-based interviewing and interrogation methods.

WORKSHOPS

EXPANDING OUR UNDERSTANDING OF SEXUAL VIOLENCE TRAUMA FOR BOTH SURVIVORS & SERVICE PROVIDERS (LUNCH SESSION)

Chelsea Davis

This lunch session will expand attendees' views of sexual violence as a form of trauma, impacting the long-term health and wellbeing of survivors and the communities in which they live. Strategies for service providers to apply strengths-based perspectives and a trauma-responsive lens will be discussed, as well as how to address their own secondhand trauma.

EXPLORING THE INTERNET OF THINGS & EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES: APPS, NESTS, & TILES

Audace Garnett

Offenders are increasingly using technology as a tool of abuse, especially for offenses involving domestic and sexual violence and stalking. This workshop will explore ways in which newer technologies, such as the Internet of Things and next generation tracking devices, are misused by abusers to surveil survivors. The presenter will also discuss privacy and safety considerations when working with survivors of technology abuse.

EXPOSING THE BATTERER'S PLAYBOOK

Scott Hampton, Kelsey McKay

This workshop will reveal the manipulation that often occurs beneath the surface of cases that involve intimate partners and focuses on the agenda, strategy, and tactics employed by domestic abusers. Attendees will learn to reframe their cases and see victims behavior as a response to ongoing abuse. The presenters will explore the what, why and how of abusers' actions through their own viewpoint, that of victims/survivors, and those charged with helping them.

EXPOSING WHAT'S CONCEALED: IPV & FIREARMS

John Guard, Heidi Bonner

Research has shown that the presence of a firearm in an intimate partner relationship substantially increases the risk of homicide. This workshop will provide attendees a firm understanding of law enforcement authority to enforce federal gun laws. The presenters will also discuss promising legislation and practices concerning firearms seizures in the context of IPV, referrals to BATF, and working joint investigations.

FAITH COMMUNITY: SPOKE OR NAIL IN THE COMMUNITY COORDINATED RESPONSE WHEEL?

Ronald Clark

Faith and spirituality provide a natural support for families affected by intimate partner violence. However, they can often become a "unique culture" which hinders family members from healing. This workshop will provide strategies to implement outside intervention through teaching, training, and preparing future leaders, and offer opportunities to enhance the support that faith and spiritual communities can provide to victims and survivors.

FIGHTING FOR IMMIGRANT SURVIVORS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE: THE CHALLENGES OF REPRESENTING ASYLUM SEEKERS

Ann Marie Dooley, Julie Owens

Barriers to services and legal relief are two of the primary obstacles that survivors encounter, and these impediments are exacerbated for immigrant survivors. This workshop will discuss the challenges that immigrant survivors face when seeking asylum in the U.S., the legal hurdles that both survivors and attorneys face, the invaluable assistance of expert witnesses, and ways to best advocate for asylum seekers.

FIGHTING FOR YOUR RIGHTS: REPRODUCTIVE COERCION, CONTROL, & INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE

Laramie Gorbett

This lunch session will examine the root causes of gender-based violence, discuss the intersectional nature of reproductive justice, and explore how service providers can facilitate information, training, and access to services for survivors. The presenter will also discuss legislation, including SB4, and the potential implications for advocates and direct service organizations.

FINANCIAL ABUSE: THE COST OF CONTROL (LUNCH SESSION)

Ruth Guerreiro

Studies show that financial abuse happens in 94-99% of abusive intimate partner relationships, yet it is the least understood form of abuse. This workshop will identify tactics that fall into five main categories of financial abuse. The presenter will also explore ways advocates, attorneys, and other professionals can help support a survivor of financial abuse.

FIRST RESPONDING OFFICERS: THE LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSE TO SEXUAL VIOLENCE CALLS

Kenny Smith

The first interaction between a survivor of sexual violence and the first responding law enforcement officer is critical in establishing a foundation for the investigative process and assisting the survivor on their path to healing. Attendees will be taught the steps of a victim-centered approach in their interactions with the survivor, whether responding to a hospital room or taking a report at their own agency.

FORENSIC HEALTHCARE EXAMINERS: A NEW FOCUS THAT EXTENDS CARE BEYOND MILITARY SEXUAL ASSAULT

Allyson Cordoni, Cynthia Ferguson, Joy Hardt

Within the past year, separate service military health components have merged to become the Defense Health Agency of the U.S. Armed Services. The presenter will discuss the newly established individual Medical Treatment Centers offering 24/7 forensic healthcare services, case management of forensic patients, dedicated forensically trained follow-up providers, and regional oversight by experienced forensic providers.

LEARNING FROM A PSYCHOPATH-THE FIRST WIFE: JOHN MEEHAN'S REIGN OF TERROR

Laura Richards, Tonia Bales

The re-investigation of John Meehan, known as "Dirty John," was the first deep dive into Meehan's behavior and psychology, as documented in the podcast "The First Wife: John Meehan's Reign of Terror." At no point was intelligence about Meehan interfaced, nor was he properly risk-assessed despite his prolific offending history. This workshop will focus on early identification, intervention, prevention, and behavioral profiling of perpetrators.

FROM JAIL, TO BAIL, TO SALE: TRAFFICKING WITHIN THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

Jane Anderson, Nicole Bell

This workshop will identify trafficking schemes that involve recruitment from local jails and prisons, as well as court-sanctioned treatment programs. The presenters will focus on strategies to address safety concerns, help triers of fact understand the unique circumstances that led to a victim's exploitation, and discuss the importance of trauma-informed practices and a coordinated response that includes healthcare providers and transitional housing.

WORKSHOPS

FROM RUIN TO REINVENTION: THE RESILIENCE OF A SURVIVOR (LUNCH SESSION)

Nichole Myles

This lunch session will examine resilience and post-traumatic growth from the view of a domestic violence survivor who has thrived after abuse. The presenter will examine critical components of creating a resilient narrative, strength-based language, and post-traumatic growth opportunities that providers can have in place to give victims and survivors the best shot at hope.

FOUR POUNDS OF PRESSURE: FROM A TRIGGER'S THREAT TO A SURVIVOR'S TRIUMPH

Mark Dungy, Christina Galewski, Danielle Leukam, Kate Loken

In the early morning hours of November 18, 2018, a woman was held at gunpoint and raped repeatedly for five hours while her three-year-old son slept in the next room. The presenters, including the survivor, will discuss lessons learned from law enforcement's investigation and criminal court proceedings. The workshop will also address survivor perspectives regarding law enforcement collaboration, rape kit examination, and victim advocacy.

GETTING TO "GUILTY": GUIDING THE JURY'S RESPONSE TO THE EVIDENCE

Patti Powers

Jurors in sexual assault cases face the daunting task of reaching a just verdict for a crime that is shrouded in misconceptions. This workshop will suggest ways to focus the jury's attention on the evidence in a manner that accurately conveys the reality of sexual assault, beginning with jury selection and continuing through opening statement, presentation of evidence, and summation.

HAPPY LIVES & HEALTHY CAREERS: DEALING WITH TRAUMATIC INVESTIGATIONS

Matthew Hagan

After a particularly horrific homicide investigation, Matt Hagan was diagnosed with P.T.S.D., major depressive disorder and anxiety. After receiving help, he made it his mission to break down the stigma of asking for and seeking out mental health treatment. This workshop will offer ways to get help and will be especially relevant to law enforcement personnel who engage daily in traumatic police work and investigations.

HEALING THE HEALERS: ENCOURAGING AND PREPARING FAITH LEADERS TO RESPOND

Kirsten Kelly, Tawana Davis

Do faith leaders know what to do when someone who is experiencing abuse comes to them? This workshop includes discussion and highlights from a video series that provides insights and strategies for care, along with practical tools to building a strong network of support in faith communities. It is designed to support faith leaders in creating safe and trusted communities for survivors.

"HERE'S THE TAKEAWAY": EXPLORING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE & FIREARMS DIVESTURE

Valerie Martinez-Jordan, Sunny Funk

The Lafourche Parish Sheriff's Office has initiated a trailblazing program to divest firearms from offenders and improve safety measures for victims and survivors. The presenters will describe the firearms divestiture program, its legislation, and how it became a model program for removing firearms from the hands of prohibited possessors. Program development for agency implementation will also be discussed.

HITTING THE TARGET: DOMESTIC ABUSE RESPONSE TEAM (D.A.R.T.): AN INNOVATIVE COORDINATED COMMUNITY RESPONSE TO COMBAT DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Carvana Cloud, Julie Pleasant

Designed to facilitate offender accountability and survivor restoration, the presenters founded Houston's Domestic Abuse Response Team, a relational policing crisis intervention model that identifies high risk cases in order to reduce homicides. The presenters will share how D.A.R.T. helps to ease victims' navigation of the criminal justice and social service systems after formally reporting domestic violence to law enforcement.

HOUSING & ECONOMIC IMPACTS OF THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE SURVIVORS IN TEXAS (LUNCH SESSION)

Barbie Brashear

The COVID-19 pandemic brought deep impacts to the safety, stability, and wellness of domestic violence survivors, a group already vulnerable to housing/economic instability and health disparities. This lunch session will share study findings about the impact of COVID-19 on domestic violence survivors' housing and economic situations, and examine what remedies and policies that participants reported improved safety and stability.

HOW NOT TO LOSE AN SVU CASE

Donna Kelly, Justin Boardman

In this workshop, a veteran prosecutor and detective will share their experiences from a combined 40 years of handling thousands of SVU cases. The focus will be to move beyond just obtaining and presenting facts to meet the elements of the crimes, to instead learning and presenting the victim's experience in a new and powerful way.

HOW TO EFFECTIVELY COMMUNICATE WITH SURVIVORS & INCREASE PARTICIPATION

Ruth Guerreiro, Jordyn Lawson

This workshop will share how to use The Stages of Change as a guide for communicating with survivors while using trauma-informed language and interviewing skills. The presenters will discuss realistic goals and helpful techniques to create safety that can aid providers in being successful in their roles.

HOW TO GAIN THE TRUST OF SURVIVORS OF DOMESTIC SEX TRAFFICKING

Katariina Rosenblatt

This workshop will discuss how to see the trafficking signs, speak survivor language, gain survivor trust, and eventually turn the tables on traffickers that can lead to successful prosecutions. The presenter will share examples of survivor stories, and how law enforcement collaboration can act as a deterrent to future criminal activity and lead to the rebuilding of survivors' trust.

HOW TO PREPARE A PROTECTIVE ORDER CASE IN FAMILY COURT

Rob Cañas

Protective orders in a divorce or child custody case can have ramifications beyond the obvious prohibition on further violence. This workshop will discuss how to prepare witnesses and evidence for a protective order hearing and considerations when drafting a protective order, including specific language needed to properly include firearm prohibitions under federal law.

HOW TO WORK AQUATIC CRIMES STAGED AS NONCRIMINAL BATHTUB DEATHS (INTERACTIVE)

Andrea Zaferes, Walt Hendrick, Tiffany Lee, Thomas McAndrew

Attendees will work a bathtub homicide case and learn how to document the victim's body, critical scene evidence, and reporting party evidence. Skills will include photographing wet/damp evidence, interviewing suspects of ACAW, identifying important injury and postmortem physiology artifacts, and applying a practical investigative framework. Bring note-taking tools, a camera, stopwatch, and clipboard. Pre-registration is required. Prerequisite: Attend a past year's or 2022 ACAW presentation.

WORKSHOPS

HOW TRIBAL COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES CAN PARTNER WITH LOCAL ADVOCATES

Raquel DeHerrera

For many Tribal colleges and universities, having an on-campus advocate for sexual assault is not an option due to funding, physical space on campus, or a lack of other resources. Establishing a partnership with a community-based advocacy program can enhance both programs' services to victims of sexual assault.

"I CAN'T BREATHE!": THE PHYSIOLOGY OF RESPIRATION & ASPHYXIATION AS IT RELATES TO VICTIMS OF ABUSE

Andrea Zaferes, Allyson Cordon

Drowning, strangulation, and suffocation are common causes of injury, abuse, noncriminal death, and homicide. This workshop begins with a foundation of normal respiration physiology, followed by mechanisms, signs/symptoms, and pathophysiology of fatal and nonfatal asphyxiation. The presenters will also review research on asphyxiation accidents, hanging autoerotic, and suicide deaths.

IDENTIFYING & INVESTIGATING STRANGULATION & ASPHYXIATION CRIMES

Kelsey McKay, Kimberly Orts

Through the lens of a former patrol officer, experienced detective, and former prosecutor, attendees will be taught how to overcome common challenges that confront strangulation and asphyxiation crimes before they even begin. With team collaboration, attendees will learn the potential to improve current practice and hold these dangerous offenders accountable.

"I DIDN'T KNOW I HAD ACCESS TO THAT KIND OF INFORMATION!" THE NUTS & BOLTS OF NLETS

Teri Harsin

This workshop will explain how law enforcement telecommunication databases Nlets and NCIC are different, and provide examples of the various resources accessible via Nlets. The presenter will also provide real-life scenarios where Nlets transactions were used to assist law enforcement, public safety, and criminal justice professionals.

THE IMPACT OF DIGITAL ABUSE: A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A SURVIVOR

Audace Garnett

This workshop will give attendees an opportunity to better understand the experiences of tech abuse survivors. A simulated video experience will help attendees consider the complex and challenging situations that this type of abuse can create. The presenter will also explore how to take context into account through a game of deciphering emoji conversations.

IMPLICIT BIAS & INTERSECTIONALITY: IT'S A HUMAN CONDITION

Myra Strand

Analyzing "justice" through the lens of implicit or explicit bias can help us better understand how victims are impacted by prejudice. This workshop will go beyond the typical analysis of "gender bias" to assert that the gender experience is inherently intertwined with race, class, sexual orientation, nation status, geographic location, health status, religion, etc.

IMPROVING HEALTH OUTCOMES FOR PERINATAL SURVIVORS OF INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE THROUGH LEGAL SERVICES

Amanda Elkanick Oder, Bronwyn Blake

The prevalence of intimate partner violence against pre and postnatal mothers is disturbing and in need of legal remedies to address social determinants of health. The presenters will discuss social determinants, the role of medical/healthcare professionals in helping advocate for their patients, and legal alternatives for survivors.

"I'M PULLED IN SO MANY DIFFERENT DIRECTIONS!" WORKING WITH SURVIVORS OF MULTI-ABUSE TRAUMA

Lindley King

Survivors of multi-abuse trauma are often interacting with providers in multiple fields who all have their own distinct ways of providing services. It can be confusing, frustrating, and discouraging to hear conflicting messages about the best ways to move forward. This workshop will discuss how advocates can better work together to support survivors of multi-abuse trauma.

INDIGENIZING YOUR HOUSING & ADVOCATE RESPONSE TEAM (H.A.R.T.)

Victoria Ybanez

This workshop will discuss the individual, community, and systemic benefits of creating and sustaining a Tribal response team whose members have common goals of filling community housing gaps, improving survivor safety, and developing wrap-around housing responses. Team development involving decisions based on indigenizing a mission, vision, and philosophy, as well as HART recruitment to include survivors, will be discussed.

INDIGENOUS SOLUTIONS: CENTERING NATIVE ADVOCACY FOR OUR RELATIVES

Victoria Ybanez, Hope Wenke

Violence against Indigenous women is the highest statistic of any group in the U.S., yet too often, advocacy programs do not meet the complex needs of Indigenous survivors. The presenters will focus on the core aspects of Indigenous advocacy, including centering cultural activities and practices, healing options, and identity strengthening within a crisis response.

INNOVATIONS FOR EMPOWERING YOUNG PEOPLE WITH RELATIONSHIP HEALTH EDUCATION

Melanie Sperling, Katie Hood

This workshop will focus on strategies to reach middle school, high school, and college students with relationship health education. The One Love Foundation has developed the 10 signs of healthy and unhealthy relationships, as well as educational videos, social media campaigns, and train-the-trainer programs. This workshop also features tools on how to communicate with young people about abuse prevention in their own language.

INTIMATE PARTNER HOMICIDE: SOLVING COLD CASES WITH AN EVIDENCE-BASED INTERVIEW STRATEGY

Jon Turbett

What happens when investigators re-interview suspects in cold case intimate partner homicides? What should a suspect interview strategy look like now versus what it looked like years ago when the crime occurred? Using a real-life case example, the presenter will discuss how enhanced interview skills, social influence techniques, and overcoming minimal physical evidence can be used to find justice for victims and their families.

IT'S IN THE DETAILS: DOCUMENTING THE DV INVESTIGATION & WHY WHAT'S WRITTEN MATTERS

Kimberly Orts

This workshop will provide suggestions on how to organize case information to help investigators present a clear and accurate depiction of events through report and affidavit writing. The presenter will use real life examples to showcase the importance of capturing and documenting DV dynamics, how to be thorough but concise, and using effective language.

IT'S NOT ALWAYS PHYSICAL: COERCIVE CONTROL & POST-SEPARATION ABUSE

Christine Cocchiola

Coercive control often intensifies after a relationship ends. At this most crucial moment of decision-making, victims find themselves being dismissed by the legal and judicial system intended to protect them and their children. This workshop will explore how post-separation abuse is exacerbated by the criminal justice system and examine techniques to better advocate for and provide improved services to victims.

WORKSHOPS

"IT WASN'T ME!" MAKING THE WRONG ARRESTS WITHIN LGBTQIA+ INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE CASES

Michael Crumrine

Within same sex couples, the signs of intimate partner violence are often missed, or calls for service discounted as just a disturbance between roommates or "friends." Misunderstanding these cases can be devastating and deadly. This workshop will provide tangible tools to accurately identify who the primary aggressor is in same sex IPV cases.

JENNIFER 42: COERCIVE CONTROL AS WORST CASE SCENARIO

Elle Kamihira, Laura Richards, Jessica Rosenbeck

The film "JENNIFER, 42" reveals the devastating impact of unidentified and unacknowledged coercive control, and its close correlation with femicide. The presenters will unpack the many red flags of escalating coercive control in Jennifer's case and why the criminal justice system did not understand the danger the family was in.

JUDICIAL CONSIDERATIONS ON VICTIM SAFETY & OFFENDER ACCOUNTABILITY

Rob Cañas

This workshop will discuss the techniques courts can use to enhance victim safety and offender accountability – two sides of the same coin. The presenter will also describe the structure of a dedicated domestic violence court and how to set one up in one's community.

THE KAVANAUGH EFFECT: THE AFTERMATH OF HIGH-PROFILE SEX CRIME ALLEGATIONS

Ric Hertel

The presenter will advise, explore and discuss strategy and possible pitfalls for prosecutors post-Kavanaugh. The workshop will also discuss the impact of the Weinstein case; Cosby's charge, conviction, and reversal; the #MeToo movement, and other high profile sexual misconduct allegations have on investigations, charging, pre-trial preparation, and trying these cases.

LEFT HAND, MEET RIGHT HAND: BUILDING A COORDINATED COMMUNITY RESPONSE TO STALKING (LUNCH SESSION)

Jenn Landhuis

Despite high prevalence rates, stalking crimes are often overlooked and unrecognized by criminal justice professionals. It is estimated that for every one case of stalking that is identified, twenty-one more are overlooked. This lunch session will focus on going beyond an incident-based response to fully capture the course of conduct necessary to enhance your community's response to stalking.

THE LONG-TERM IMPACT OF CRIMINALIZING SURVIVORS OF SEX TRAFFICKING

Shobana Powell, Cristian Eduardo,

Ashante Taylorcox

This workshop, led by advocate and survivor experts, will discuss the long-term psychological, economic, and educational impacts on survivors. The presenters will examine how traffickers and sex buyers utilize criminalization as a form of coercive control, what this means in the context of generational and historical trauma for marginalized communities, and how to better support survivors.

LOOKING FOR LOVE? WATCH OUT FOR YOUR WALLET

Camelia Lopez, Donna Strittmatter Max

This workshop will introduce attendees to the world of transnational organized crime and money mules. The presenters will explain the most common techniques fraudsters use to gain the trust of unwitting victims. Attendees will also learn ways to identify a scam and protect themselves, as well as where to go if they discover they have been a victim.

LURKING IN THE SHADOWS: THE UNKNOWN PRESENCE OF SPYWARE

Bryan Franke

This workshop will explain what spyware can and cannot do, certain conditions that must exist for specific software to function, and what can be done to stop it. Attendees will be shown simple steps that may give insight to whether specific spyware is present. The presenter will conclude with a live demo of a phone that has spyware on it.

MEDICAL & LEGAL WORKING TOGETHER TO KEEP VICTIMS SAFE

Bob Frechette

The relationships between medical staff, police officers, and attorneys working on behalf of victims can often be strained. This workshop will examine the important role of medical providers when working with victims and offenders, demonstrate how the criminal justice system can use medical information for successful prosecution, and provide strategies for collaboration while still adhering to patient confidentiality and organizational policy.

MILITARY SEXUAL VIOLENCE: HOW DID WE GET HERE & HOW DO WE FIX IT?

Lindsey Knapp

This workshop will discuss the history of sexual violence in the military, current statistics and trends, and proposed reforms and their effectiveness. The presenter will examine the most promising ways to solve the problem of military sexual violence, and what can be done to help. Real life examples, community impacts, and complex military concepts will be explored.

THE MISUSE OF SOCIAL MEDIA: IT'S NO LONGER HARD OUT HERE FOR A PIMP

Brooke Girona-Robb, Cara Foos Pierce, Vennesa Villareal

This workshop will explore the key role that social media plays in the victimization of women by traffickers, including how traffickers seize young people's readily available information to identify and manipulate victims. The presenters will also discuss the pervasiveness and glorification of pimp culture in the media and how that impacts victims and jurors during prosecutions.

MORE THAN YOU CAN HANDLE: HOW RELIGION CAN BE USED IN INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE

Lindley King

This workshop will not argue the merits of faith or the value of religion, but rather discuss how religious trauma shows up in people's relationships. The presenter will examine how Scripture, religious traditions, and cultural norms are used to assert power and control, and how someone's faith can be weaponized against them to cause harm, including specific impacts on LGBTQ+ individuals.

NARCISSISM IS THE KEY TO UNDERSTANDING DOMESTIC & GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

Ramani Durvasula

Current models of domestic and gender-based violence do not account for narcissism and its patterns. This workshop will clarify exactly what narcissism is, what it means clinically, and how this pattern is central to understanding gender-based violence in all forms. The presenter will provide recommendations for how law enforcement, judicial institutions, and policy makers can better inform realistic prevention and intervention.

NASHVILLE'S JOURNEY: HOW TO TRANSFORM THE WAY YOUR CITY RESPONDS TO VICTIMS OF INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE

Diane Lance, Becky Bullard

After a two-year audit, the city of Nashville made multiple changes in the criminal justice system and larger nonprofit community, including the formation of one of the country's only stand-alone governmental departments focusing exclusively on interpersonal violence. In this workshop, attendees will learn about Nashville's journey and key takeaways to develop their own innovative programming and practices throughout their city.

WORKSHOPS

NAVIGATING THE UNIQUE COMPLEXITIES OF FAMILIAL TRAFFICKING (LUNCH SESSION)

Christine Cesa

Familial trafficking is one of the most severe typologies of human trafficking, is often not discussed, is under-identified and survivors of familial trafficking endure severe and complex trauma. The presenter will demonstrate the needs that are present in survivors' lives, even as adults, and strategies to address those needs including practical tools, case examples, and pathways to assist survivors in thriving.

NDAA 2022 IMPLEMENTATION & THE ARMY'S OFFICE OF THE SPECIAL TRIAL COUNSEL (LUNCH SESSION)

Robert Stelle, Melissa Hoppmeyer

Join members of the Office of the Judge Advocate General's office as they discuss the 2022 National Defense Authorization Act and the Office's plans to create an Office of the Special Trial Counsel. This lunch session is of special interest to prosecutors, victim service advocates, or attorneys located near an army installation.

NINE COMMON MYTHS ABOUT ABUSERS & HOW THEY STILL MATTER

David Adams

This workshop will provide deeper insight about abusers by providing tools to recognize underlying traits of abusers and avoid being manipulated. An examination of abusers' psychological characteristics, manipulation, and excuse-making strategies; their common deficits as parents; and how these deficits impact their children will also be conducted.

NO FACE, NO CASE: RESPONDING TO WITNESS INTIMIDATION IN IPV CASES

John Guard, Heidi Bonner

Witness intimidation in cases of intimate partner violence is a significant problem, and successful prosecution is hampered by the constraints imposed by the Crawford v. Washington decision. This workshop will discuss the specifics of witness intimidation, including how it occurs, how to investigate it, and how to respond in a way that protects the witness while holding the offender accountable.

OFFICER-INVOLVED DOMESTIC & SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Mark Wynn

This workshop will discuss the dynamics and impact of officer-involved domestic and sexual violence. The presenter will explore the historical view of these crimes within the police family, insight into the lack of accurate statistics, and the unique characteristics of conducting investigations. Nationally-established standards for recruiting, training, corrective discipline, and the continued need for implementation of policy will also be discussed.

ONE SIZE DOESN'T FIT ALL: CULTURAL CONSIDERATIONS WHEN WORKING WITH AFRICAN AMERICAN SURVIVORS OF SEX TRAFFICKING

Hannah Counter

This workshop will provide an understanding of the intersectionality of the increased victimization of African American women within the realm of sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation and the role that systemic racism, poverty, and educational barriers play in contribution. The presenter will discuss best practices for delivering care to this population and ways to reduce further victimization on a macro level.

OVERCOMING "THE ROUGH SEX DEFENSE" & OTHER CONSENT DEFENSES

Kelsey McKay, Scott Hampton, Andrea Zaferes

Justice for victims often ends as soon as a perpetrator claims that "it was consensual." Complex dynamics, lack of training, and inadequate policies have left a film of confusion for investigators and prosecutors and allowed sexual predators to become serial offenders. The presenters will explore the role that asphyxiation plays when dealing with the most dangerous offenders in society.

PAPER TRAILS & BREADCRUMBS: REPORTING PROTECTIVE ORDERS & BOND CONDITIONS FOR HOMICIDE PREVENTION

Kimberly Piechowiak

Protective orders and bonds conditions are just a few of the tools at a judge's disposal to prevent domestic violence homicides. This workshop will present an overview of bond conditions and protective order reporting available across the country and will highlight recent changes in Texas that will help to get crucial information to courts, law enforcement, and prosecution agencies to enforce of these orders.

POLITICS, POLICY, & COALITION BUILDING: ENGAGING LEADERS TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Rania Batrice, Jessica Brazeal, Ann-Marie Caruth, Leslie Morgan Steiner

It is imperative that both community and governmental leaders not only understand, but embrace the need for strong advocacy, resources, and support for survivors by way of protective legislation, safeguarding policies, and fortifiable coalitions. The presenter will discuss the importance of internal and external strategies and coalition-building when it comes to creating and pushing for policies that actually make a difference for women.

PREPARING A DOMESTIC VIOLENCE CASE WITH THE DEFENSE IN MIND

Nancy Oglesby, Lawrence Braunstein

This workshop will address the difficult issues faced by law enforcement and prosecutors in bringing a successful domestic violence case to trial. At each phase of the process, the presenters will address how the defense will view and prepare for the case, as well as address best practices for law enforcement and prosecutors to build the strongest cases possible.

PRESENTING A SEXUAL ASSAULT CASE WITH THE DEFENSE IN MIND

Nancy Oglesby, Lawrence Braunstein

This workshop will address the difficult issues faced by law enforcement and prosecutors in bringing a successful sexual assault case to trial. At each phase of the process, the presenters will address how the defense will view and prepare for the case, as well as address best practices for law enforcement and prosecutors to build the strongest cases possible.

PREVENTING MURDER IN SLOW MOTION: IDENTIFYING, ASSESSING, & MANAGING RISK

Laura Richards

In the U.S., four women are murdered each day by a current or former partner. The current approach is not working. The presenter will discuss coercive control behaviors, high-risk clusters, why motivation is vitally important to understand along with the timeline, and why practices should move away from an incident-based response and violence model to one of asking questions about coercive control.

PROJECT REVEAL: MAKING THE CASE FOR VIDEO EVIDENCE & VIDEO RECORDED STATEMENTS

Bethany Backes, Staley Heatly, Karina Powell, Matthew Stephenson

Project ReVEAL (Recording Victim Video Statements as Evidence to Advance Legal Outcomes) is a multi-site evaluation in Texas that examines the use of cameras at the scene of family violence incidents. This workshop will highlight key findings and discuss implications for the use of video evidence in the investigation and prosecution of family violence cases, as well as ethical considerations.

WORKSHOPS

PROTECT & SERVE: COMMUNITY POLICING, DOMESTIC CONFLICT, & FIRST RESPONSE

Mike Butler, Briana Barocas, Kristin Daley

This workshop will examine the intersection of police-community trust, domestic violence, and restorative justice. The presenters will discuss how police can establish a departmental and community culture to create a safe space for building community-wide awareness and reporting of DV. Additionally, the use of restorative justice in DV cases, including research on existing judge- and prosecutor-led programs in Utah and Arizona, will be addressed.

PROVIDING RURAL HOSPITALS WITH ACCESS TO EXPERT SANES THROUGH THE TEX-TRAC TELEHEALTH PROGRAM

Kim Zemanek, Stacy Mitchell, Kayce Ward

Texas law requires all hospitals with emergency rooms to provide medical forensic exams to patients who do not want to transfer to hospitals with SANEs. In response, the Texas Teleforensic Remote Assistance Center was established in 2019. The presenters will discuss the development and continued adaptation of Tex-TRAC and its telehealth consultations, including lessons learned from real cases.

RAISING THE STANDARD: WHAT TO EXPECT FROM AN EFFECTIVE ON-SCENE INVESTIGATION

Mark Wynn

Attendees will be taught six objectives of an on-scene investigation, victim-centered trauma-informed interviewing techniques, victim behaviors, and offender motivation. This workshop will illustrate offender manipulation through the eyes of the victim, law enforcement, and advocate. Attendees will enhance their understanding of the tactics used against victims and service providers, as well as probable cause, justifiable self-defense, and determining predominant aggressor.

RAPE & RACE: THE TWO ELEPHANTS IN A CROWDED ROOM

Lavinia Masters

With a historical lens on the intersections of race and rape, this workshop seeks to increase culturally-responsive practices for Black victims. The presenter will share her testimony, historical research, policies, data, and the battles that led to The Lavinia Masters Act of 2019 (HB 8) that set strict requirements around testing and preserving rape kits.

RISK FACTORS FOR INTIMATE PARTNER HOMICIDE: PAIRS STUDY (LUNCH SESSION)

Jacqueline Campbell, Mikisha Hooper

A transdisciplinary team is currently conducting research to replicate Dr. Jacquelyn Campbell's 2003 study on intimate partner homicide risk in Arizona, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Oregon, and Texas. This workshop will provide an overview of this critical study and discuss opportunities for criminal legal professionals to both collaborate in the research process and implement IPH prevention strategies based on the findings.

SB476: DEVELOPING YOUR SART PROTOCOL (LUNCH SESSION)

Kristen Lenau, Haleh Cochran

The presenters will cover the basic protocol requirements outlined in SB476 (a bill that addresses gaps in adult sexual assault response by requiring the establishment of SARTs in Texas counties). This lunch session is applicable for advocates, law enforcement, prosecutors, forensic examiners, and mental health providers that sit on teams and respond to adult sexual assault in their counties.

A SEARCH FOR ANSWERS: MISSING OR MURDERED INDIGENOUS PERSONS

Leslie A. Hagen

In 2020, Congress passed Savanna's Act and Not Invisible Act to develop solutions and provide resources to help solve the problem of Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons. The presenter will describe federal implementation efforts designed to help address the issue. This workshop will tackle topics like data collection, victim advocacy, and creating cross-jurisdictional strategies for addressing missing persons.

A SEAT AT THE TABLE: THE CRITICAL ROLE OF CORRECTIONS IN ABUSER ACCOUNTABILITY

Scott Hampton

According to one county's prosecutor, "It appears that the highest risk time for domestic violence offenders to be re-arrested is shortly after they are released from a correctional facility." In response, that community chose to examine the critical role of the correctional system as part of a coordinated community effort to domestic violence. This workshop will serve as a report on what that community learned.

SEEKING EXCELLENCE IN SERVICE PROVISION FOR TRAFFICKING SURVIVORS: THE CRITICAL ROLE OF RAPE CRISIS CENTERS & DUAL DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AGENCIES

Kara Harrington, Laramie Gorbett

This workshop will discuss the successful service expansion for rape crisis centers and dual domestic violence agencies in Texas to allow for identification of and service provision for trafficking survivors. It will also highlight challenges, best practices, screening tools, insights from the field, integration of the Commercially Sexually Exploited Youth Advocacy Model, coordination of adult services, and cross-discipline collaboration.

SEXUAL DEVIANT KILLERS

Lawrence Simon

This workshop will explore the deviant minds of convicted serial lust murderers and violent sex offenders, who largely target women, children, and other living organisms. Specifically, the psychology behind the crime will be discussed, while analyzing and interpreting true accounts and disturbing viewpoints and motives of some of the most notorious serial lust murders and other dangerous men behind bars.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION & COERCIVE CONTROL: CONNECTING CLIENT EXPERIENCES TO RESEARCH & LEGISLATION

Carrie McManus, Andrea Silverstone

Little research has been done on the intersections of coercive control, domestic violence, and sexual exploitation/trafficking. This workshop will provide an overview of a research project by Sagesse, exploring how coercive control and experiences of sexual exploitation link together to impact victims of crime. The presenters will discuss recommendations for practice and policy, and how to implement suggested adjustments and changes.

SHARPER IMAGE: CREATING A CLEARER PICTURE OF STALKING RISK

Jenn Landhuis

The Stalking Harassment Assessment & Risk Profile is a free, web-based risk assessment tool that provides an assessment of the "big picture" of stalking situations. This interactive workshop will conduct a SHARP assessment on a case scenario and discuss the ways SHARP can be used to increase victim safety and coordinate strategies to hold offenders accountable.

WORKSHOPS

SHATTERED PIECES (FILM SCREENING)

Kerry Ann Frazier

Shattered Pieces is a film based on real events and taken from excerpts from the book "Restored" by Kerry Ann Frazier. The film depicts verbal, emotional, and physical violence as well as the impact that trauma has on children in the home. Shattered Pieces aims to bring to light the darkness of the cycle of abuse and address the barriers that often prohibit victims from leaving dangerous relationships.

SILENT CRIMES OF FINANCIAL ABUSE (LUNCH SESSION)

Doreen Hunter

This lunch session will review the three standard instruments that measure the nature and extent of financial abuse in women's relationships and discuss other tactics found in post-separation abuse cases that are not adequately measured nor prosecuted despite most state statutes listing these crimes as felonies.

THE SNEAK ATTACK: ADDRESSING THE Pervasiveness of Involuntary DRUGGING

Shannon Henry, Brett Brown

This workshop will highlight how a survey conducted by a nonprofit in South Carolina helped identify and care for victims of drug-facilitated crimes while ensuring efficacy in evidence collection and holding perpetrators accountable. Ways to implement the resulting Critical Incident Response Team model for other communities tackling the problem of drug-facilitated crimes will also be discussed.

SOMEWHERE UNDER THE RAINBOW: HELPING SURVIVORS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT & INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE FROM THE LGBTQ+ COMMUNITY

Sarah Berlanga

This workshop will provide a general introduction to the LGBTQ+ community and explore historical and systemic trauma that the community has faced that may exacerbate their reactions to sexual assault or intimate partner violence. Attendees will evaluate stereotypes that perpetuate victimization and discuss trauma-informed ways to support LGBTQ+ survivors.

STALKERS: HOW TO BUILD A CASE FOR PROSECUTION

Tracie Reilly, Aaron Savage

This workshop will help prepare law enforcement and prosecutors to build a stalking case that can lead to a conviction. The presenters will illustrate different charging decisions and investigative approaches. Techniques for victims to keep track of stalking incidents, identifying tracking devices and linking those to the perpetrators, and how to present these cases in court will also be examined.

STALKING INVESTIGATIONS: VIDEO SCREENING & DISCUSSION

Jenn Landhuis, Brooke Meyer

By recognizing and accurately assessing the risk of stalking, first responders play an essential role in preventing further harm. During this session, the Institute for Coordinated Community Response will release its newest roll call training series on stalking investigations. To model how these videos can be used for group trainings, the presenters will screen the six-part series and facilitate a group discussion between parts.

STAYING SANE: A PROGRAMMATIC ANALYSIS OF A RURAL RAPE CRISIS CENTER

Brooke Fulton

This workshop will discuss the evolution of medical responses to sexual assault victims and introduce a focused case study on medical forensic exams in Coconino, Navajo, and Apache Counties in Northern Arizona. This workshop will also review an evaluation of Northern Arizona Care and Services After Assault, which highlights trends among assaults in mostly rural Arizona.

STOP, LOOK, & LISTEN: LAW ENFORCEMENT METHODS WHEN RESPONDING TO IPV CALLS

Denise Jones, Dave Thomas

This workshop will explain how to approach the IPV crime scene, from the beginning of the call, what is seen and heard on approach, and, most importantly, what to obtain from the scene, suspect, and victim. The presenters will also explore all aspects of information gathering to improve law enforcement and potentially improve the ability to prosecute these types of cases.

SUFFER FROM BURNOUT? GIVE 'EM THE F.I.N.G.E.R.!

Mark Yarbrough

Burnout has been called "The disease of our civilization." But there's good news: burnout can be healed. Attendees will learn the definition of burnout and the symptoms thereof. More importantly, attendees will be laughing and, at the same time, learning how to apply the F.I.N.G.E.R. philosophy to help themselves or their co-workers avoid and/or recover from burnout.

SUPPORTING THE SUPPORTERS: NAVIGATING STAFF SURVIVOR DYNAMICS (LUNCH SESSION)

Amanda Elkanick Oder, Bronwyn Blake

Many survivors of abuse are part of the movement, whether the abusive events occur before or during their employment. The presenters will discuss ways agencies can better support staff through care plans, open communication, and trauma-informed procedures. Best practices in creating an open and healthy work environment will also be addressed.

SURVIVING DIRTY JOHN (LUNCH SESSION)

Debra Newell

John Meehan, a master manipulator, thief, and abuser entered Debra Newell's life and turned it upside down which is depicted in season one of the Bravo series, Dirty John and is penned in a memoir titled, "Surviving Dirty John". The presenter will discuss themes of gaslighting, love bombing, and coercive control along with domestic abuse legislations and domestic abuse advocacy.

TEEN DATING VIOLENCE: A PUBLIC HEALTH EPIDEMIC

Kaiti Dinges Blackburn, Evelyn Dubey

This workshop will discuss the reality of teen dating violence, Adverse Childhood Experiences, the paradigm shift necessary to create new social norms and increase peer responsibility to take action, and programming on comprehensive cognitive, behavioral, and attitudinal changes at all levels of the socio-ecological model. Original research and data from rural Midwest communities will also be shared.

TEXANS ARE NOT FOR SALE: ATTACKING DEMAND FOR COMMERCIAL SEX

Brooke Grona-Robb, Cara Foos Pierce

In 2021, Texas became the first state in the country to make buying adult sex a felony. Attendees will learn how legislation leading to sex buying as a felony was accomplished and about other legislative measures that work to end sex trafficking. This lunch session will also discuss best practices for undercover operations and collateral consequences for sex buyers.

THIS IS NOT MY CHAIR: DISCUSSIONS WITH A CRIME VICTIM

Kristen Curran

This workshop will expand on understanding the victim's perspective during investigation, prosecution, and healing; encourage expansive thinking about using the victims' account to identify corroborating evidence; and improve skills to engage with crime victims. The presenter is an experienced prosecutor and victims' attorney who found herself in a life-threatening domestic violence situation.

THIS IS THE HOUSE WHERE I LEARNED NOT TO SLEEP (FILM SCREENING)

Kirsten Kelly

Ret. Lt. Mark Wynn is determined to end the cultural cycles of abuse that have haunted him and dedicates his life to confront outdated systems and bias in society's response to victims of domestic violence. "I lived with a monster, I know how this works," he says, "I've been on both sides of that door." This film explores the complex relationship between law enforcement and domestic violence, encountering both stubborn resistance and hard-won reforms.

WORKSHOPS

TRANSGENDER WOMEN: FORGOTTEN VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Kimberly Crawford

This workshop will explore the root causes of human trafficking victimization of transgender women and the psychology of the various traumas experienced by this community. The presenter will discuss transgender women's access to victim services, housing and mental health services, and how providers can be more equitable and trauma-informed in their work.

TRAUMA-INFORMED FRAMEWORK FOR WORKING WITH VICTIMS: VIDEO SCREENING & DISCUSSION

Justin Boardman, Brooke Meyer

Understanding trauma's impact on the brain is vital for effectively responding to the traumatized victims we encounter every day. This workshop will present an on-demand roll call training series on trauma-informed practices, produced by the Institute for Coordinated Community Response. To model how these videos can be used within agencies, the presenters will screen the five-part video series and facilitate group discussion throughout.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS: LEVERAGING YOUR OWN LEADERSHIP FOR CHANGE

Rachael Frost

Individuals across any agency can affect change, regardless of their rank or roll, by leveraging their own skills and capacity for leadership. The presenter will discuss inspirational leadership and business practices, as well as how the justice system, and those within it, can create paradigm shifts to build trust and engagement within their organization and the community at large.

TINY PROGRAM, BIG CHANGES: HOW CORRECTIONS CAN HELP VICTIMS

Libby Hamilton

In 2017, the Chairman of the Texas Board of Pardons & Paroles applied for VOCA grant funds to initiate the Board's first ever Victim Liaison Program. The presenter will discuss a variety of topics such as plea implications, the parole review process, training for decision-makers, post-conviction victim services in Texas, and ways to improve a victim's experience with the criminal justice system.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT? ADVOCACY FOR FIREARM AWARENESS & RISK

Elizabeth Gray

This workshop seeks to provide advocates with specific knowledge and tools to improve their comfort in and likelihood of speaking about firearms with their clients. The presenter will discuss identifying and building competencies, the importance of firearm discussions, and the dangers of advocate biases as a barrier to victims' safety.

TRAFFICKING THROUGH THE EYES OF AN OVERCOMER & THE ROLE OF SURVIVOR LEADERSHIP

Katherine Givens

This workshop will take a deep dive into what sex trafficking and the transition from oppressed victim to overcomer looks like from the lens of survivors, with a particular focus on Black victims. The presenter will explore key frameworks such as adultification and intersectionality.

TRAFFICKING TOOLS FOR LATIN@S ACCESSING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE PROGRAMS

Paula Gomez-Stordy

Although several trafficking screening toolkits are available, most do not incorporate a culturally-relevant approach. This workshop will present a tool to identify Latin@ survivors of trafficking who access services in domestic violence shelters and programs. This tool is a result of the collaboration between national and local programs that regularly engage with communities to provide support to Latin@ survivors.

TRANSLATING DOUBT INTO CONVICTION THROUGH THE STRATEGIC USE OF EXPERT WITNESSES (PT. 1 & 2)

Julie Germann, Margaret Bassett, Jessica Brazeal, Khara Breedon

This interactive workshop will provide experts with skills to be effective witnesses and prosecutors with guidance on how and when to use expert witnesses. Attendees will have an opportunity to see an expert in action with live demonstrations of qualifying and direct expert testimony in three different case types: domestic violence, sexual assault, and human trafficking.

UNDERSTANDING THE EXPERIENCES & NEEDS OF OLDER SURVIVORS OF DOMESTIC & SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Bethany Backes, Julie Olomi, Leila Wood

The needs of older women who have been victimized often goes overlooked. The presenters will discuss recent statistical trends related to rates of domestic and sexual violence among women 50 years and older, as well as how to better engage and support older survivors.

UNDERSTANDING RISK IN DOMESTIC VIOLENCE CASES: THE DOMESTIC VIOLENCE RESOURCE FOR INCREASING SAFETY & CONNECTION

Danielle Pugh-Markie, Carvana Cloud, Michelle Toledo-Cainas

This workshop will describe guiding principles and resources available to communities through the Center for Court Innovation's Domestic Violence Resource for Increasing Safety and Connection, a national resource center designed to help jurisdictions enhance their approaches to reducing risk and preventing homicide by providing multidisciplinary community readiness tools, training, and technical assistance to communities working to implement homicide prevention strategies.

USING CODE ENFORCEMENT TO ADDRESS HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Dennis Domagas

Certain types of businesses, such as massage parlors and bars, have become an important element in the business model for prostitution and human trafficking. However, these criminals have left themselves vulnerable to the issues that every business has to deal with: regulations and code enforcement. The presenter will review the legislative remedies available to confronting businesses that serve as a front for exploiting victims.

USING CREATIVE PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT TO ADDRESS UNIQUE CHALLENGES WHEN WORKING WITH SURVIVORS OF SEX TRAFFICKING & CSE

Jessica Brazeal, Rania Batrice

Women seeking services due to trafficking or commercial sexual exploitation often have a background of child abuse and substance abuse, lack high levels of formal education, and are looking to move into conventional employment while having a criminal record. This workshop will explore how to account for all of these factors to allow for program development that is trauma-informed, culturally sensitive, and achievement-based.

USING NAMUS TO RESOLVE MISSING PERSONS & UNIDENTIFIED REMAINS CASES (LUNCH SESSION)

Donia Slack, Mike Nance

The National Missing and Unidentified Persons System (NamUs) is a national information clearinghouse and resource center for missing, unidentified, and unclaimed person cases across the U.S. The presenters will provide attendees with a NamUs overview, describe enhancements to the program, and explain how users can utilize NamUs forensic and analytical services in support of missing, unidentified, and unclaimed persons cases.

WORKSHOPS

USING FORENSIC NURSES & SART MEMBERS AS EXPERT WITNESSES IN SEXUAL VIOLENCE CASES

Kim Nash, Patti Powers

This workshop will summarize the law related to the introduction of expert testimony and highlight if and when to introduce expert testimony in a case. The presenters will also discuss strategies for the identification and qualification of experts, as well as the importance of working with experts to prepare a case for trial even if their testimony won't be introduced.

UTILIZING SPECIALTY DOMESTIC VIOLENCE COURTS AS A COORDINATED COMMUNITY RESPONSE

Brandy Dailey, Ashley Walker

Domestic Violence Specialty Courts work as a hub for primary prevention efforts within the community and utilize administrative data to track their impact. This workshop will feature a pilot program in Arkansas, review various domestic violence court models, discuss the challenges of working with criminal justice stakeholders, and identify strategies to adapt this model for both rural and urban communities.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN: DEBUNKING THE MYTHS SURROUNDING TRAUMATIC BRAIN INJURY & PTSD

Bridget Ryan

This workshop will highlight how each part of the system can assist in debunking the belief that post-traumatic stress disorder and traumatic brain injury diagnoses are causes of domestic violence and sexual assault. Best practices for defending against the use of these diagnoses in the mitigation phase of sentencing will also be discussed.

"WELL, WHAT WAS SHE WEARING?" DEALING WITH EXPERT WITNESS TESTIMONY

Ruth Guerreiro, Sara Barnett, Jordyn Lawson

Having an expert witness testify in criminal or family court can help judges and juries make informed rulings, particularly in cases where a victim's conduct is not what is traditionally expected. Through this mock trial workshop, attendees will discover the benefits of utilizing an expert witness, as well as instructions on how to prepare for using or providing expert witness testimony.

WHEN VICTIMS OF CRIME BECOME DEFENDANTS: SHOULD CONTEXT MATTER?

Mark Wynn

What does justice look like when a victim of a crime becomes a defendant? The presenter will discuss how trauma, victimization, strangulation, and brain injury, along with sexual assault and domestic violence dynamics, should be considered when responding to possible violations of law by victims of crime to reach more just outcomes.

WINDOW DRESSING: INVESTIGATIONS OF COMMERCIAL FRONT SEX TRAFFICKING

Rochelle Keyhan, Joseph Scaramucci

This workshop will share how to build circumstantial, organized, crime-focused cases against commercial front brothel owners, like illicit massage parlors and cantinas. Lessons learned through case studies, forms of evidence available via open-source intelligence gathering, and civil and criminal remedies available to assist investigations and close sex trafficking venues will be discussed.

WOMEN'S USE OF VIOLENCE: THE IMPACT OF ARREST & CONVICTION

Melissa Scaia

As part of their efforts to cope and survive, many victims resist their assailants by fighting back. Sometimes this resistance involves the use of violence. This workshop will focus on the impact that arrest and conviction has on victims of battering in order to develop criminal justice interventions that are just and enhance victim safety.

WORKING WITH DOMESTIC VIOLENCE OFFENDERS AS PARENTS IN A GROUP SETTING (LUNCH SESSION)

Melissa Scaia

Addressing fatherhood with abusive parents requires a process that seeks to change the underlying beliefs that justify the violent behaviors. A key method to begin this process is to examine the impacts and effects of the core beliefs related to parenting. This lunch session will help attendees enhance their work with men who batter as parents.

Texas A&M University College of Nursing is CCNE accredited and a National League of Nursing (NLN) Center of Excellence in Nursing Education, offers four different locations in Texas with campuses in Bryan/College Station and Round Rock, and recruiting/advising centers in Lufkin and McAllen. Established by The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents in August 2019, the Texas A&M Health Center of Excellence in Forensic Nursing serves as the state's first center dedicated to the field of forensic nursing supporting community outreach, continuing education, evidence-based research and strategic partnerships in improving not only patient care but patient access to quality care.

Texas Advocacy Project was established in 1982 by a group of young lawyers, Texas Advocacy Project (TAP) started as a legal hotline. In the decades since, TAP has evolved into an expert on legal issues affecting survivors. Today, our comprehensive approach includes both solutions and prevention and provides a range of legal and advocacy services proven to break the cycle of violence and get victims to safety. Texas Advocacy Project serves ALL Texans without regard to socioeconomic status, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, immigration status, or any other distinction.

Texas Legal Services Center, Crime Victims Litigation offers legal advice, safety planning, self-representation support, and legal representation if you are a victim of domestic violence, sexual abuse or assault, elder abuse, or any other form of violent crime. We also assist victims of stalking and identity theft.

TXFNE: The Forensic Center of Excellence is a community-based victim service center that includes services such as forensic nursing, advocacy, counseling, legal advocacy, adult forensic interviews and a research program. We are located in Harris County and serve 13 surrounding counties in our region and offer training, technical assistance and tele-support services.

The University of New Haven offers a master's in Investigations is the first degree of its kind in the nation! The degree is 100% online, consists of 10 courses, and can be completed in as little as one year. We offer several areas to focus your studies: major crimes, trafficking and smuggling (human and wildlife), title IV, cold case investigations, and many other areas.
